

I am categorically opposed to relaxing the regulations on media ownership. The 1996 Telecom Act has been a disaster for democracy, because of the concentration it has brought. The narrowing of news coverage, and opinion has been staggering. The U.S. news media is a joke, when compared to Europe. Does the FCC care about democracy, or just corporations?